To whom it may concern;

It is time to bring the Microsoft lawsuit to a halt and stop trying to make a bunch of greedy lawyers rich in the process. The seniors of this country need all the breaks we can get because to date, they are few and far between. We, on social security, cannot even afford our life saving drugs, and the internet is completely out of the question. Most of the Government programs only benefit Minorities and bums except Medicare. Let us get on with this business and stop listening to special interest groups interested in lining their own pockets at the expense of seniors.
